LETTERS and TOMATOES

MARGINALS OF ERROR

Congratulations on your 500th issue. It demonstrates there's something seriously wrong with a society that lets such a magazine get that far. It is unfortunate, however, you chose to make the Sergio Aragonés marginals collection that small. What have you got against Sergio? That he has 500 drawings he can call favorites is no small achievement. You should at least honor him with bigger drawings, if not a bigger paycheck. Anyway, thank you for the 500 copies of dreck that still somehow manage to brighten my day once in a while. Once in a long, long, long time.

Terry England, Santa Fe, NM

"Terry" — Nice try, but we know this letter's from you, Sergio — we'd recognize your handwriting anywhere! We're not making your artwork OR your paycheck any bigger! Better luck next time, amigo! —Ed.

AWARD TO THE UNWISE

Each year, the National Cartoonists Society honors the best in the field with its Reuben Awards. It's basically like the Oscars... if everyone looked like Paul Giamatti. This year, our very own Art Director, Sam Viviano, won in the category of "Magazine Illustration" for — among other things — his work in MAD! Congratulations, Sam — now get back to work!

ONE FOR THE AGED

Help me! I've read MAD since it was 10¢. I have been published in these partly well-known publications: Pine Breezes newspaper, Pine yearbook, The Wildcat newspaper, NEA Magazine, Herb Caen-S.F. Chronicle, "Dear Abby," Yuba City Appeal Democrat newspaper. See what's missing? I NEED to get into MAD to complete my illustrious list. I am 75 and running out of life.

Bonnie Thoma, Yuba City, CA

It's Not a Thoma! — Oh dear...we just realized that your letter arrived way back in July '08...we hope we're not too late! At any rate, here you go — you've appeared in MAD! Congratulations! Now that your résumé's complete, you can feel free to croak at your leisure! —Ed.

MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™

In MAD #500, my friends and I discovered something very disturbing... Spy Vs. Spy had become Spy Vs. Spy Vs. Spy. We were all stunned. I'm not sure if Peter Kuper has gone completely insane, but my wish for the MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™ is my friends and I would like this third Spy to be blown away or crushed for good and never be heard from again.

David Cline, Clermont, NJ

Walk the Cline — At the MAKE A DUMB WISH FOUNDATION™, we pride ourselves on making the dreams of our readers come true. However, the Gray Spy is a long-running (and, more importantly, potentially-licensable) character — so we're not going to destroy her! We've simply grown too attached to the ol' gal! We HAVEN'T grown attached, however, to the strip's writer-artist, Peter Kuper. So, as a compromise, we'll be more than happy to crush him. Thanks for writing — please join us in sending Peter's family our deepest condolences! —Ed.

A MASSIVE ART ATTACK

If you happened to be in Atlanta, hopefully you swung by The Gallery at East Atlanta Tattoo. Their exhibition, "The MAD Generation," featured nearly 50 pieces of artwork, all inspired by The Usual Gang of Idiots. We don't know if art is dead...but this can't be helping it any!

BLIGHT AT THE MUSEUM

Proving that they'll put ANYTHING in a museum these days, The Ojai Valley Museum in Ojai, California is honoring legendary MAD-man Sergio Aragonés with a retrospective exhibition of his work from August 7th to October 4th! For more information, go to www.ojavalleymuseum.org!

AMERICA'S NEXT TOP MODEL-MAKER

PROSE AND CONS

I'm one of your biggest fans, literally, I weigh over 300 lbs. If you haven't guessed by now, I'm in jail. I've got every MAD from 350-500, of course, not with me. It's really valuable getting a magazine that makes you laugh in such a bad situation. I'm about to do 3 years for crawling through windows. In prison I'm getting Alfred E. Neuman tattooed on the back of my head. I just can't thank you enough for all the good times you've given me, past, present, and future. Congratulations on 500 issues!

Eric McArthur, Martin County Jail, Stuart, FL

King McArthur — So, just to recap — you're a 300-pound man...but your crimes involved you crawling through windows. We're no criminologists, but we think we've figured out how you got busted. We've seen Three Stooges movies that were better thought-out than that plan. Maybe next time, you should focus on crimes where you crawl through garage doors! —Ed.

THE BEST OF THE BREAST

I was recently reading issue #500 of MAD and I realized you were missing one more type of man boobs: The Triple Nipple. You have almost all of them but this man. He has two boobs, then his stomach looks like one more nipple.

Dylan Dennis, Middletown, RI

Dyl, Baby, Dyl! — Actually, we DID think of "Triple Nipple" — but we decided to exclude it out of respect for longtime writer/artist John Caldwell (right), who, sadly, is afflicted with Triple Nipple (or TN for short). Tragically, John hasn't had the courage to go to the beach in years and is intensely private about this hideous deformity. Hmm...maybe we shouldn't have outed him in this letter. Oh well... whaddaya gonna do? You know what they say — loose lips sink nips! —Ed.

MAD Fan of the Month

This month's "Fan of the Month" is Jeremy Fisher from Mechanicsville, VA! He's such a huge fan that he even made his own "MAD about MAD" T-shirt...which is technically a copyright violation... but since you've already wasted thousands of dollars on our shoddy product, we'll let it slide. Did we mention that longtime MAD writer/artist and longtime TN-sufferer John Caldwell can't ever wear T-shirts because of his grotesquely deformed torso? Yep, it's always turtleneck season for ol' Johnny C!

FUTURE SHOCKED

In "Nick at Night Viewers' Companion" — 12 classic TV show spoofs in MAD Super Special #127 (March 1998), "The Mary Taylor-Made Show" must be part of The DaVinci Code because on page 48 you have someone saying, "Hey, what say I write a story for tonight's news about a woman having eight babies." How many more prophecies have you printed that you are not telling the world about?

Dave Geels, Decatur, IN

The Real Geels — That's amazing! And now that you mention it, you're right to wonder what else we've predicted! In fact, over the years, MAD has made some astonishing prophecies that have wound up coming true! Just check out this eerie prognostication that appeared in our Cosby Show spoof, way back in 1985! —Ed.

DADDY ISSUES

My dad got me my first subscription to MAD for my 12th birthday, and I have been hooked ever since. He had read MAD when he was a kid, and thought that it would be a perfect gift. This weekend, when I was at a used bookstore I came across an old MAD from Oct. '72. I had to have it, so I bought it and brought it home. When my dad saw it, he remembered the issue. He said that he had a huge collection of MADs, but before he even thought about his kids wanting them, he sold most of them. So thanks a lot, MAD! If your magazine hadn't made his generation so stupid, I could be rotting my brain out on old MADs, as well as on these new ones.

Kaylor-Made — Don't blame MAD for your father's dumbness! Judging from your letter, stupidity runs in your family! —Ed.

MAD
AD PARODY

*A*n important message from MAD's
Director of Business & Development,

JEFFREY LOZENGE

Consider a lobster. Or a man in a lobster suit. Or a lobster in a man's suit (not shown). Either way, it's obvious to even the most casual of lobster observers that lobsters don't give a damn. That's where I come in.

And that's where MAD comes in. Yes, MAD — the magazine whose time is and was and continues to be — gives a damn about what you consider, whether you consider it or not. This includes not just crustaceans but other sea creatures (also not shown) and even creatures that aren't sea creatures. (Sorry, no room to show them, either.)

The important thing to remember is that it's important to remember important things, even things that don't seem important, like MAD, which is very important — at least when compared with a lobster. Except perhaps at a lobster dinner, which, like subscribing to MAD, is a good idea for you, but not a lobster. That's why I don the lobster suit and risk the scalding hot kettle and the drawn butter sauce. Because I give a damn about what's important, even though lobsters don't.

Order the veal entrée.

Jimmy Fallon takes over as host of Late Night.

Reports show that millions of Americans are now getting an extra hour of sleep every night.

Luckily, it's not too late to add him to the closing credits of Land of the Lost on DVD.

Evidently he wants to be the first 500 home run-hitter with man boobs – not counting Babe Ruth.

Either that, or he was accidentally reading Ryan Seacrest's cue card.

North Korean President Kim Jong Il names his inexperienced 26-year-old son as his eventual successor.

BONK!

Singer Brett Michaels is hit on the head and knocked flat by a piece of scenery at the Tony Awards.

David Letterman upsets Sarah Palin when he jokes that A-Rod got her daughter pregnant at Yankee Stadium during the seventh-inning stretch.

She probably wouldn't have objected if Letterman had said Jeter.

The Iranian Presidential Election sparks massive demonstrations and accusations that the results were pre-arranged.

Many suspected the fix was in when Mahmoud Ahmadinejad was spotted buying a new windbreaker to wear to the inaugural ball.

The FDA announces that use of the sinus medication Zicam could cause people to completely lose their sense of smell.

Sales are reportedly still brisk in New Jersey.

Longtime Tonight Show sidekick Ed McMahon dies at 86.

Big deal! Current Tonight Show sidekick Andy Richter is out there dying every night.

Former Vice President Dick Cheney signs a $2 million book deal to write his memoirs.

Not surprisingly, it was a no-bid contract.

Michael Jackson dies at age 50.

He touched millions worldwide...though the exact number is unknown because of nondisclosure agreements between Jackson and the victims.

In a rambling, confusing statement, Alaska Gov. Sarah Palin announces she will resign at the end of July.

This sparked a round of speculation as to why she was stepping down... and an even bigger round of speculation as to how she got elected in the first place.

A BRUTALLY HONEST MICHAEL JACKSON OBIT

Michael Jackson Dead at 50

Michael Jackson, the self-proclaimed King of Pop and noted llama enthusiast, died in his home on June 25 at the age of 50. Cause of death was undetermined – but experts agree that given his lifestyle and medical history it was most likely the result of something “insanely super-weird.”

Jackson was found in his bed by his personal physician, aspiring cardiologist Dr. Conrad Murray, who unsuccessfully attempted to resuscitate him. On a happier note, those close to the singer speculated that Murray's CPR attempt was the first physical contact to take place on Jackson's bed that didn't result in hush money being paid to a minor.

Once news of the star's death spread, impromptu shrines sprang up honoring the legendary performer. Millions around the world came together in sadness and grief, forgetting that mere days before, they were making crude jokes like the one about Jackson shopping at K-Mart because “he heard that little boys pants were half-off.”

Addressing a crowd in front of the Jackson compound, a family spokesman said, “Boy, there sure are a lot of family spokesmen.” He continued, “We want to thank CNN, Fox News and MSNBC for preempting their coverage of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, the nation's healthcare crisis, our collapsing economy and the slaughter of innocents in Iran, so that they could air around-the-clock interviews with the friends-of-friends of Michael's friends' friends.”

Deepak Chopra, Oprah Winfrey and Marlon Brando's son, Miko, all stepped forward to confirm that Jackson was addicted to prescription drugs. But rather than hold an intervention to save their friend's life, they waited until he died and they were booked on Larry King Live to voice their deep concern.

Meanwhile, Jesse Jackson and Michael Jackson, shown in happier times, while being booked at the Santa Barbara County Sheriff's Department in 2003.

*“He wasn't strange.
What he had to deal with...I'm sorry.
I misread that.
He WAS strange.”*

Al Sharpton worked tirelessly to support family members, comfort grieving fans, and spend as much time in front of the camera as possible.

Jackson's father, Joseph, addressed the tragedy with all the class befitting a man who beat his children in between 16-hour band rehearsals. “I've lost not only a son, but a treasured meal ticket,” said the thinly-mustachioed patriarch. “I will keep dear Michael in my heart forever, particularly when I repackage his extensive and profitable catalog of hits. He may be gone, but the licensed merchandise I will create in his memory will live on forever.”

A memorial service is being planned at New York's Apollo theatre. Mourners are asked to keep statements brief, or risk being booed, then hustled off the stage by the Sandman. Burial may be delayed, as the family of the elephant man has expressed interest in purchasing Jackson's bones.

Jackson's family has asked that the public respect their mourning process as they walk the red carpet at the BET Awards later in the week and that, in lieu of flowers, additional news vans be sent.

Mr. Jackson is survived by his parents, three sisters, four brothers, three children and six noses.

The savage forces of evil are on the rise! They plan to crush the wizard world! Their dark reign of terror is on the verge of succeeding! And what's got our dweeby hero worried? See, there's this girl that he just realized he likes, only she likes another boy, kind of, but it's complicated because she's the sister of his best friend, who's totally girl-crazy but hasn't even realized who the right girl for him is, but now she's gotten jealous, and... Earth to Harry! Earth to Harry! The dating scene at your school sucks! So stop obsessing on the nearest thing with a warm pulse, before you lose yours! They're trying to kill you, dummy! Abhhh, there's no doubt about it...

Harry Plodder

IS A
HOT-BLOODED
PUTZ

Such nightmarish destruction! Oh God, why is this happening?

Because otherwise, the first hour of this movie would be as talky and uneventful as the first hundred pages of the book!

What a nightmare, to see a shambling, undead creature on the loose in the streets of London! And behind Amy Winehouse, I see a Death Eater!

I am Alpo Hussein Doubledork, the avuncular Headmaster for the Halfwits School of Wizardry and Window Repair! Give me an 11-year-old to teach, and I'll return them at the age of 18! Frequently, in a body bag! In the last five years, no fewer than six Halfwits professors have injured, terrorized or murdered our students. It's part of my "No Child Left Alive" program! It sounds exotic, but many American kids have a 7-year-long education. Unfortunately, they call it "high school"!

The wizard behind this attack, Lord Druckermort, was my most gifted pupil! He finished first in his class! Actually, he was twelfth, so he killed the eleven kids ahead of him!

Allow me to introduce this year's flawed plot-device-slash-professor, Horace Rugburn! He's a master of potions, from Felix Felicis to Polyjuice. And he brews up a mean glass of crunk juice! But the hardest thing to swallow is Rugburn's tale of tutoring Druckermort in dark magic! For the last 15 years, since the Great Wizarding Wars, he's been in hiding! But not because of guilt. Because of bookies! He bet on Lord Druckermort, with the points!

The repressed sourpuss with the 30-year scowl is Severely Snapped! The only thing oilier than his personality is his hair! In fact, his barber's motto is "Drill, baby, drill!"

Those are the Malformeds, a disgusting, terrible family! They're like an albino version of the Jonas Brothers!

Laugh it up while you can, Fuzzface! I've been hand-picked to kill you this semester! Who better for this all-important secret mission than a vitamin-deficient hothead who was punched out by a 13-year-old girl? No doubt about it, Lord Druckermort has all the strategic planning skills of Napoleon. Not Bonaparte...Dynamite!

Which brings us to the three BFF's! Which stands for "Beaverface, Fussbudget, and Frownypants"! Runt, Herwhiny, and Harry!

Harry Plodder is the hero with the lightning bolt on his head and the fog in his brain! I confess that Harry has always been my pet student. Although when I say "pet," think Michael Vick! This semester will be Harry's darkest. He must face an almost impossible challenge — getting a girl hot! It will be interesting to see whether he'll succeed in losing his virginity, or get killed first. Either way, it'll be over in a flash!

When Runt first arrived, he was a short, awkward, repulsive, inadequate dweeb! Five years later, he's not as short! Nevertheless, Runt Queasy is one of the all-time great sidekicks! Just like Patrick the starfish, minus the sex appeal!

The always diligent Miss Grungy has read every book in the Halfwits library, twice! The only one she couldn't finish was the fourth book in the Twilight series. What a stinker THAT was! The bland tweeners, the flat and repetitive writing, the played-out fantasy world scenario, the corny romance...er...forget I mentioned it!

Harry, I have an overwhelming sense of dread and hopelessness about the future!

It looks bad, but stay optimistic! I can't! I've read the seventh book! And I've got an open-mouthed kissing scene with Runt! Gack! Couldn't we do a quick rewrite, and let the Death Eaters zap the crap out of me?

I'll do it — I'll make the Unbearable Vow that binds me to your son Drano! Let's spit on our hands and touch pinkie fingers! But why would you sign away your only son to a remorseless fiend? Why volunteer him as the Dark Lord's eternal puppet slave?

We've always wanted Drano to go into the family business!

How does it feel to be as frozen and useless as David Blaine? You can't move a muscle! Unsurprisingly, your acting chops are the same as ever! I bet you're sorry you snuck out of your safe little train compartment now!

No! Runt's in there watching Beverly Hills Chihuahua... again!

Harry, using that special Potions textbook is cheating! Worse, you were already almost killed by a mysterious book that appeared from an unknown benefactor. Remember finding young Druckermort's planted diary? And your battle in the Chamber of Secrets? And the giant snake that drove its fangs into your flesh?

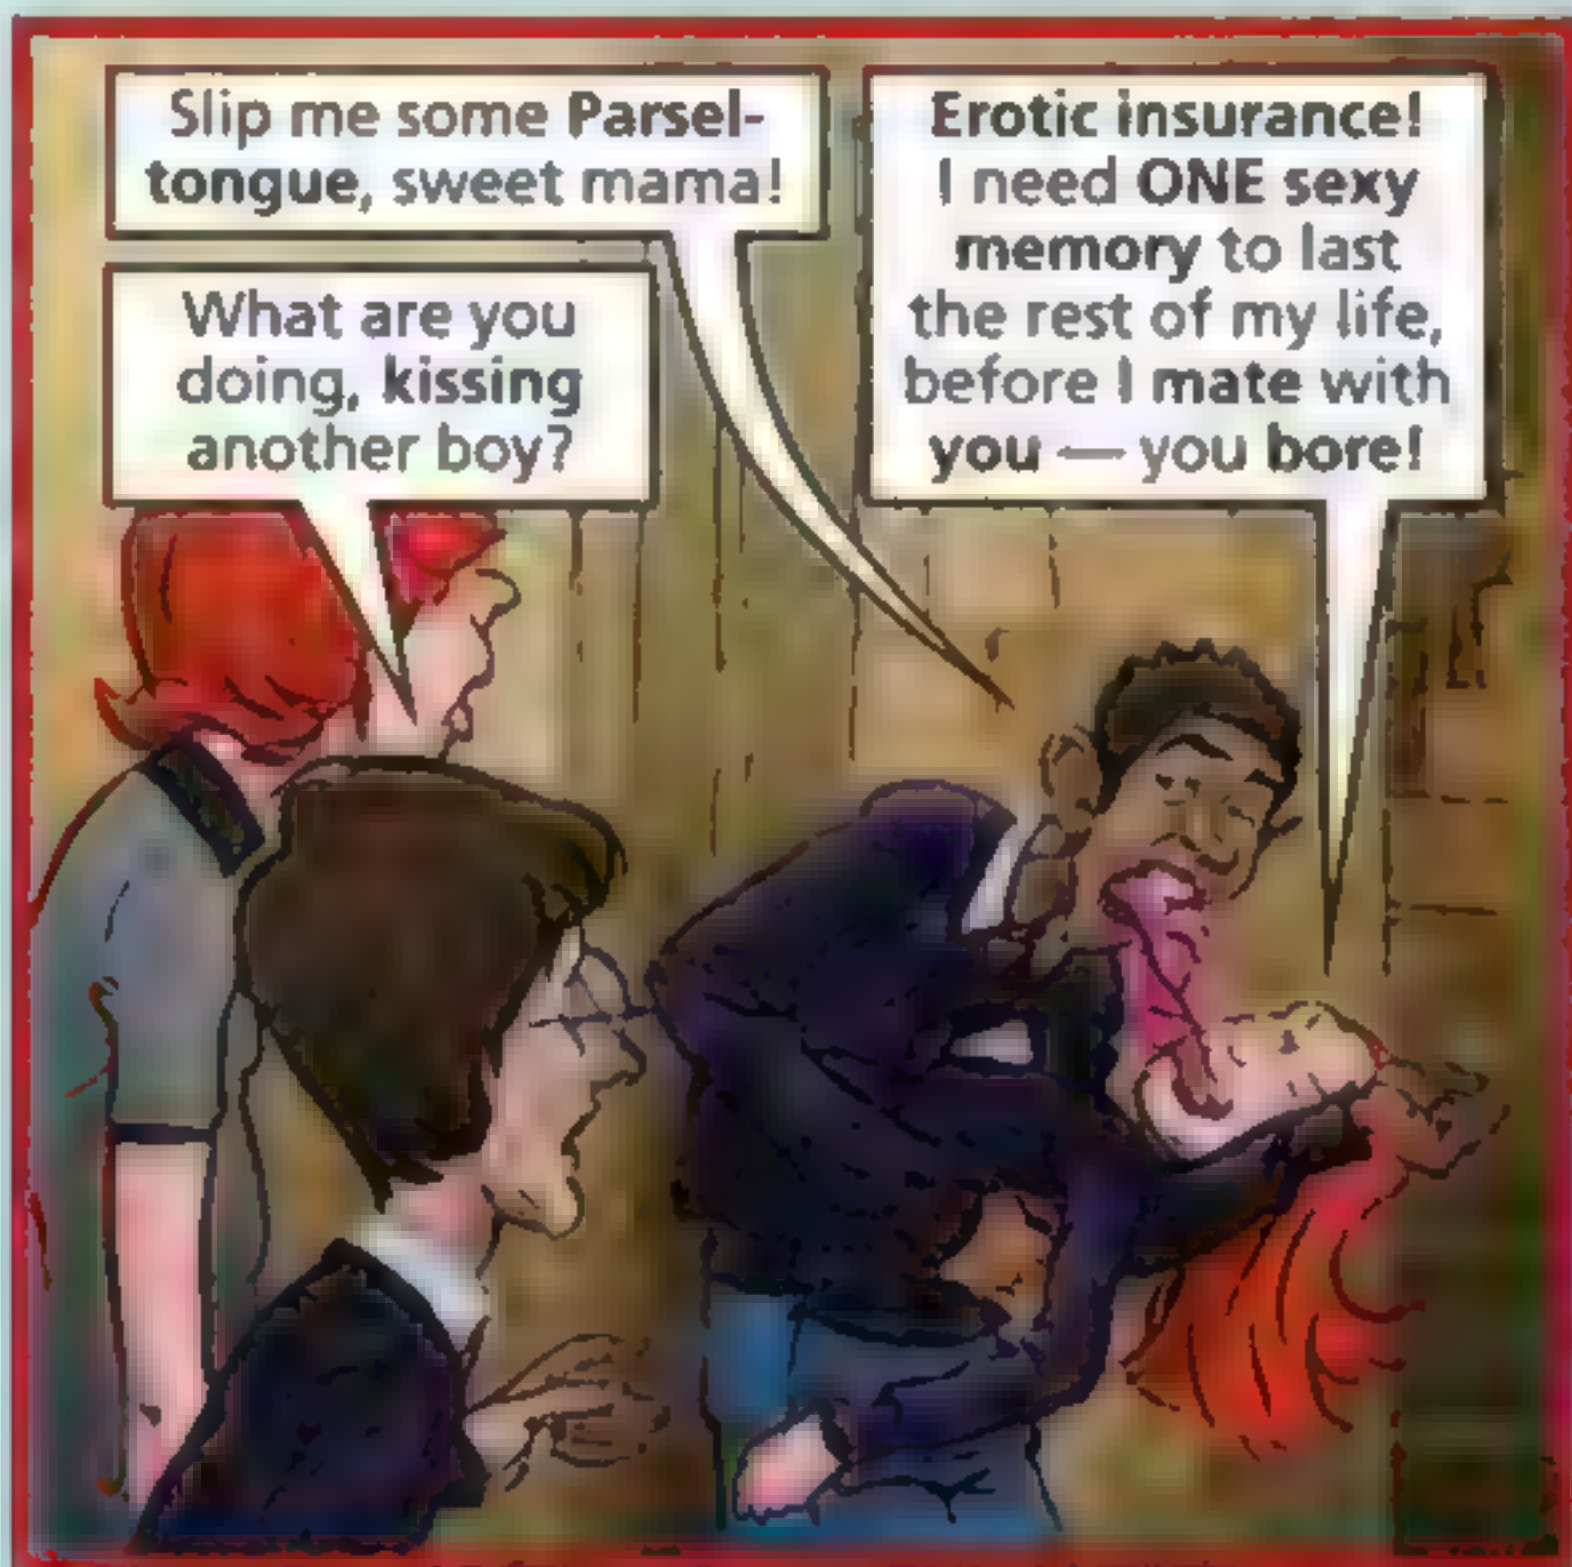

Mmm... nope! Sorry, it doesn't ring a bell!

Harry, check out this moldy old memory of when I first met Tom Riddler...

A weird old coot in a bathrobe wants to adopt a 12-year-old boy and take him away to a secluded castle? I don't see why not!

I've never told anyone, but I can move things! I can hurt people! I can talk to snakes! And I touch myself during Dora the Explorer!

Waaaaaaay too much information! But I'll take him anyway — pack him up!

Slip me some Parsel-tongue, sweet mama!

What are you doing, kissing another boy?

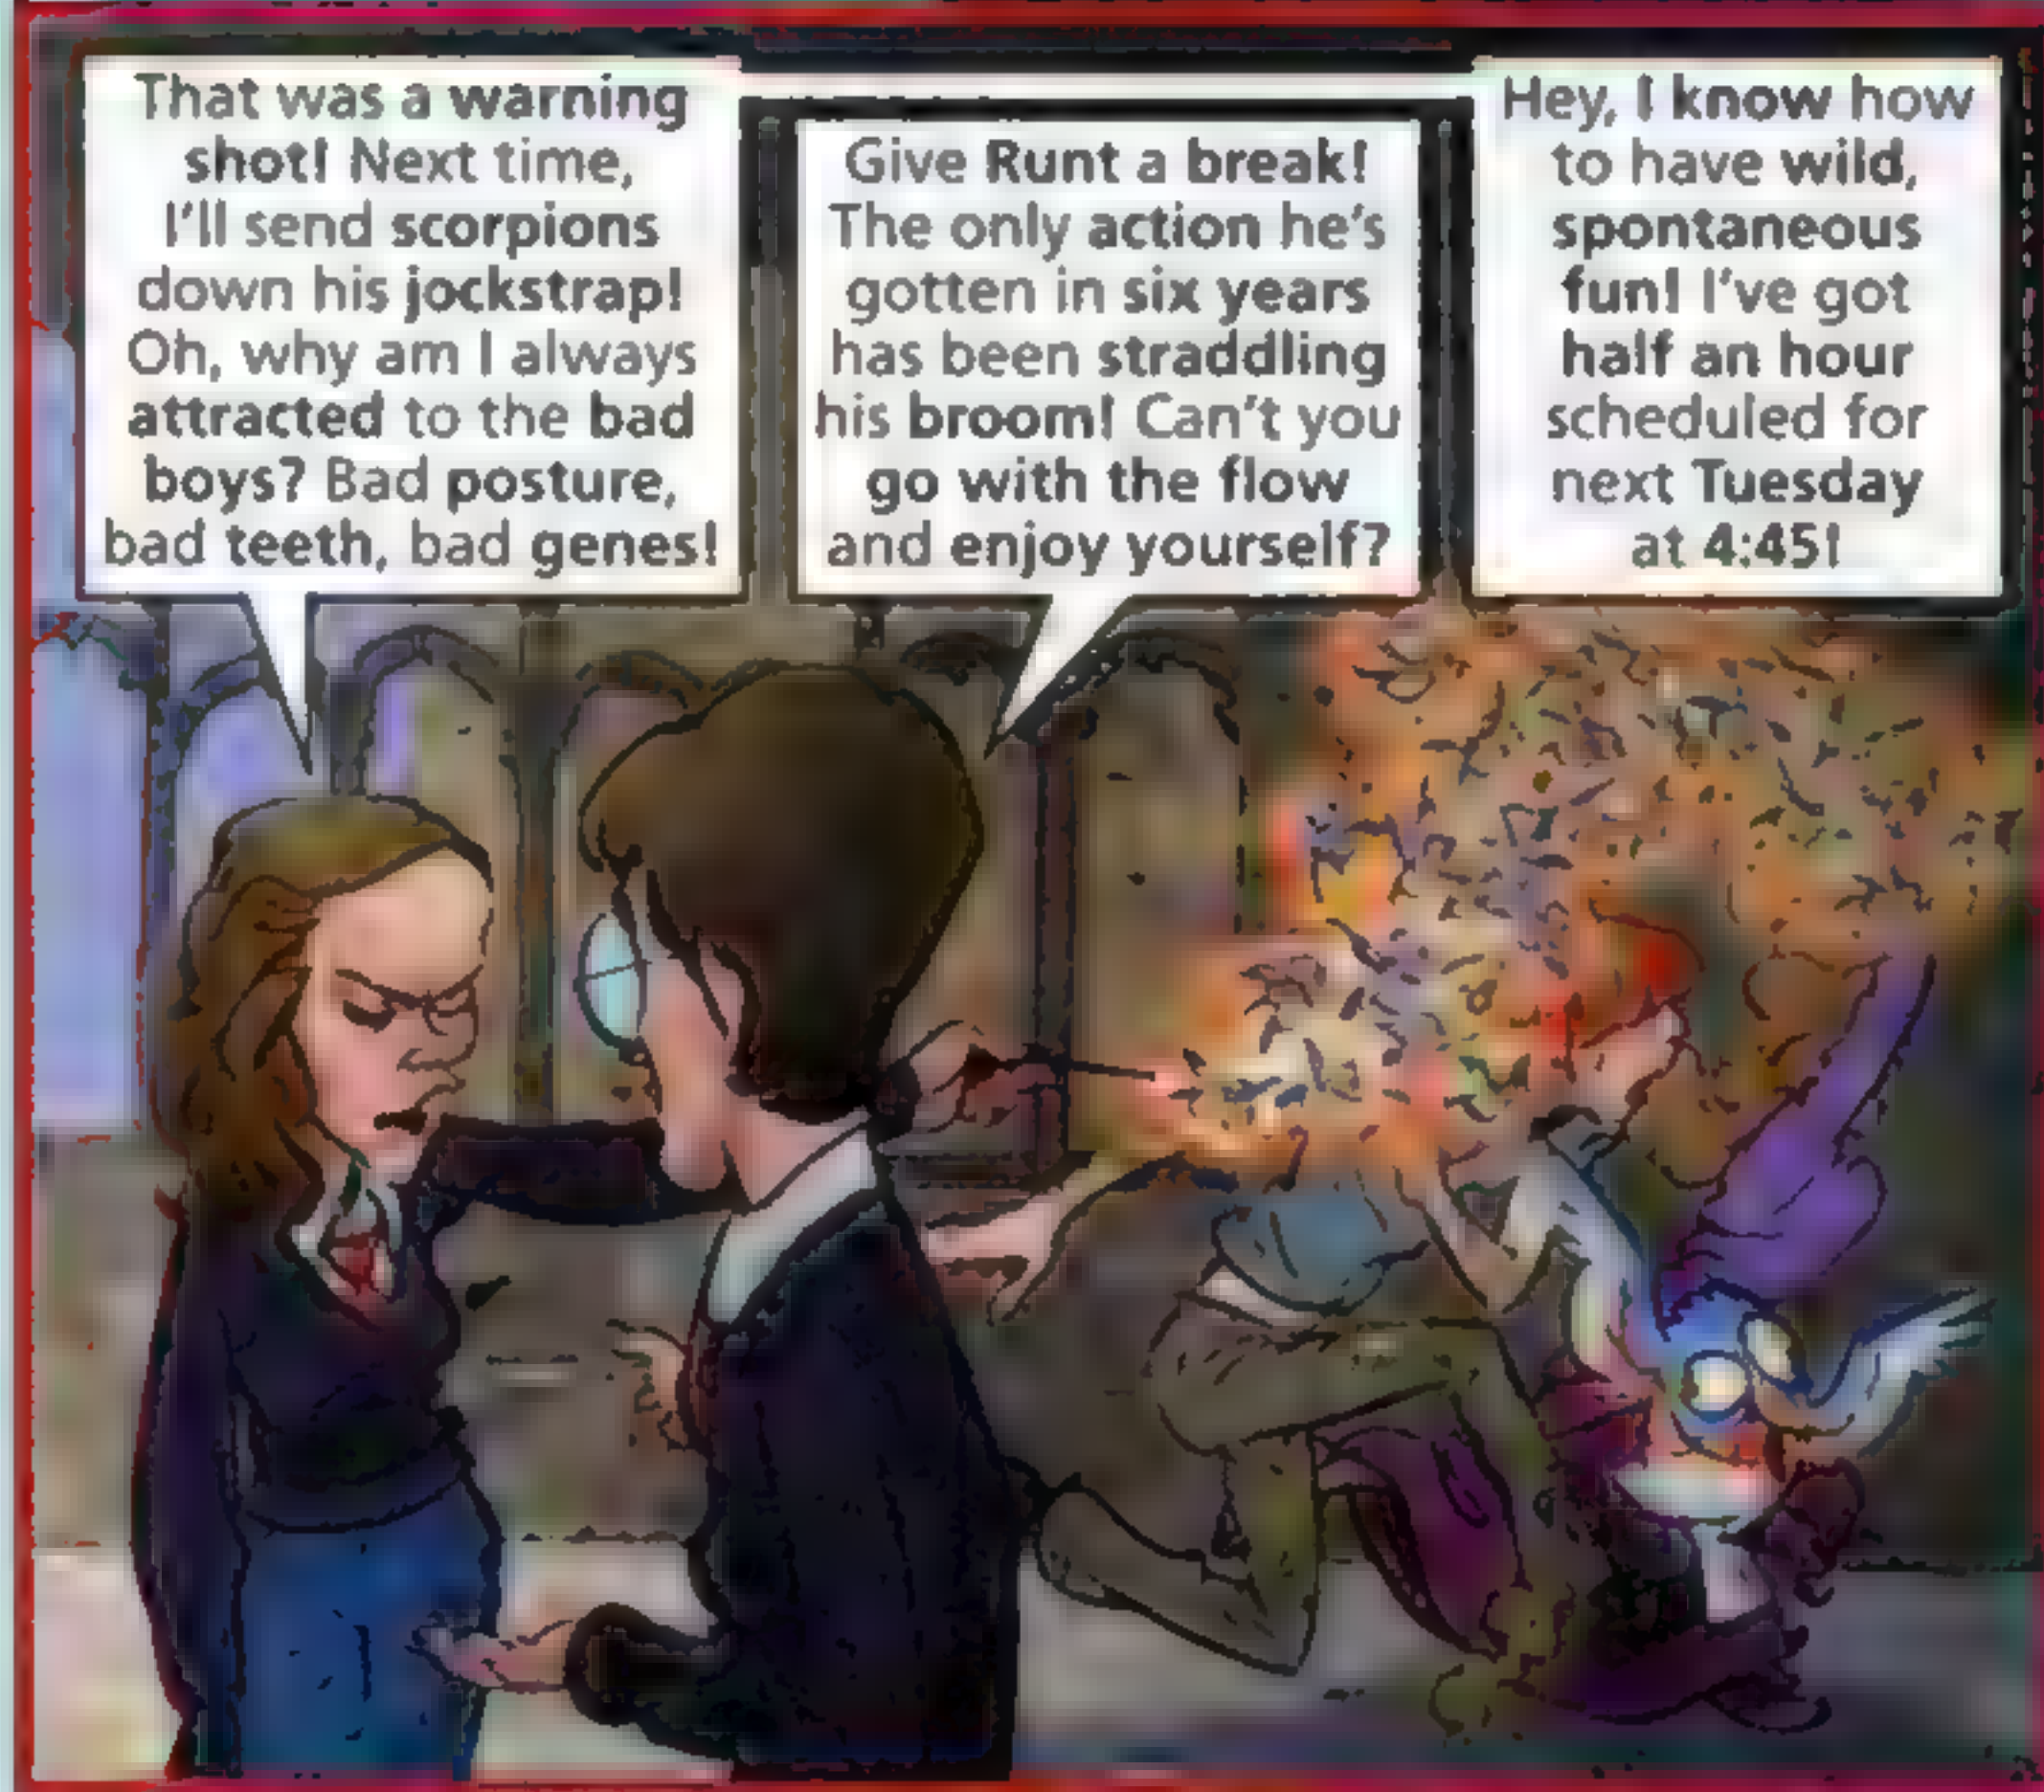

Erotic insurance! I need ONE sexy memory to last the rest of my life, before I mate with you — you bore!

Look at your brother go! Runt THINKS I slipped some good luck potion into his drink! But I just pretended, so he'd play with as much confidence as if he had taken the juice! Too bad A-Rod never thought of THAT excuse!

Why didn't you give him REAL lucky juice?

We're going to need every drop! There's only one more book left to film. After that, our luck will be bone dry! I've already sent my résumé to Celebrity Apprentice!

That was a warning shot! Next time, I'll send scorpions down his jockstrap! Oh, why am I always attracted to the bad boys? Bad posture, bad teeth, bad genes!

Give Runt a break! The only action he's gotten in six years has been straddling his broom! Can't you go with the flow and enjoy yourself?

Hey, I know how to have wild, spontaneous fun! I've got half an hour scheduled for next Tuesday at 4:45!

How'd you penetrate our defenses so easily?

Two words: EA Sports! There's an action scene at the beginning, another at the end, and two hours of chinless virgins exchanging steamy glances in between! We need SOMETHING for the video game!

I managed to pull out Professor Rugburn's slimy, gooey, mucus-y memory! Eee-yuck! I haven't been so skeeved out since Professor McConjugal made me pop her back zits!

Your nauseating task is not finished! This memory has been doctored! Note the blurring of the image! And the way young Druckermort's head was crudely Photoshopped onto Jessica Alba's body! There is a terrible hidden secret left to discover!

Would you ask Professor Rugburn to reveal his darkest, deepest secret?

Why not? Everybody else does!

This isn't my beard, growing down. It's my pubic hair, growing up!

I cheated on one Wright Brother, with the other Wright Brother!

This one time in band camp, I took my flute and...

Aha! Horace Rugburn's true, unaltered memory proves my theory that Druckermort DID learn about dark magic from him! Well done!

Some success! Is there a reason why you didn't pull the SAME memory from the SAME guy's head 16 years ago? Such as, oh, I don't know, like the day BEFORE Druckermort roasted my parents?

Druckermort ripped his soul into seven pieces, and hid them inside seven items called herplexes! So long as even one object survives, he can't be destroyed! But WHICH objects contain Druckermort's damaged soul? I believe they include a ring, a locket, a cup, and his diary. And maybe his iPod!

Wow, what a shock that J.K. Rowling would take a simple premise and tediously stretch it out to seven separate parts!

They're guarding Druckermort's herplex. I've never seen a mindless, dead-eyed army of skeletons like this!

I have! On America's Next Top Model! But what you're drinking is hurting you! I know you have to swallow every drop of this ghastly green potion, sir. But it's just too horrible! Stop!

No, Harry, I must continue, despite the agony! Mountain Dew may taste like goat piss, but I'm going to need the electrolytes!

Say hello to my leetle friend! Earn this...earn it. Neo, I'm not afraid anymore. FREEEEEEEDOM!!!! The horror. The horror! I'll never let go, Jack, I promise. I don't deserve this. I was building a house. I'm melting! Melting! Never go in against a Sicilian when death is on the line, ha ha ha ha ha ha! Rosebud! If you strike me down, Darth, I will become more powerful than you can possibly imagine. The coin don't have no say!

What the hell are you doing?
Ad libbing! This is my big, unforgettable death scene! And all the script has me say is "Aagh!"

Yes! I am the Half-Blood Prince! Which explains my pasty, washed-out complexion! But know one thing before I flee! I never wasn't not no one that neither you nor Doubledork couldn't un-trust! There! That'll keep the fanboys guessing!

I'll hunt you down, Professor! I'll avenge Doubledork's murder if it takes me a whole other movie to do it!
You're going to need two of 'em!

Oh, Harry! Alpo Doubledork is dead! Who'll protect you now?

Are you kidding? He's the guy who made me fight a fire-breathing dragon for no good reason! Every teacher he hires tries to kill me! He brought Druckermort into this school in the first place! With Doubledork out of the way, I've got a fighting chance to stay alive!

SPY VS SPY

KUPER

Here's an exclusive peek at a new book from the editors of MAD.
Published by Running Press, it's available now wherever books are sold!

BOO

CONFIDENTIAL

The Secret Files of America's First Dog

As told to the Editors of MAD Magazine
Illustrations by Tom Richmond

Day 3

How come the Prez ran on the slogan of "Yes, We Can," but every time I want to do something, like play ball with the girls in the Oval Office, the answer is always "No, You Can't"?

Day 7

This place is crawling with Secret Service agents. Everywhere you look there are guys with black sunglasses and earpieces. I hear they've all sworn to take a bullet for the President. I don't know what their policy is about guarding me, but I sure could have used their protection when they took me to the vet and lopped off my 'nads!

Day 12

Last night the President put his foot down and told me that I am not allowed to sleep in his bed. That seemed pretty unfair. But then I heard that when they were in the White House, Hillary had the same policy with Bill.

3 Reasons Washington is a town full of hypocrites!

- ① Waterboarding is considered torture, but a choke chain on me is perfectly fine!
- ② They yell at me if I have an accident on the rug, but whenever some decrepit old senator comes over and does the same thing, no one says a word!
- ③ At the dinner table I'm not allowed to beg, but the guy from AIG shows up and gets a billion dollars!

Day 47

This morning, I met the Vice President, Joe Biden. What's the deal with his hair? The last time I saw hair like that, I was sniffing the butt of a Schnauzer!

Day 34

This place is huge! There are 132 rooms in the White House and 35 of them are bathrooms. That's amazing! That means I can go an entire month without drinking from the same toilet twice!

This truly is the greatest country in the world...though someone should remind Robert Gibbs to flush.

Day 108

I can't believe it. I get to ride in the super-lancy Presidential limo but those creeps in the Secret Service won't let me roll down the windows so I can stick my head out!

About Me and my latest futile attempt in finding a mate

I have no idea what to write here so i guesHello there, ladies. As you know, the dating world is often fraught withBut I'm open to new possibilities and I know you can relate. So let's give each other a chance and see what happens becuz I'm a laid-back guy with a good sense of humor. I'm big on sarcasm. I love to laugh because So what am I looking for? Basically someone with similar quality, sincere, cares about others, is physically and mentally and secure with herself and open to a serious relationship if that's where it leads to, however I just go with the flow and see the glass half full not half empFor me, chemistry is a must. A gurl who pushes her limits and tests the boundaries of her world will win my respet. Well about me, people would say I have a great personal and I'm really funnlove to laugh. I'm a very giving, and honest, easy to talk to about anything; communic8. I like to do almost anything for fun, you are doing it with the right person! I could really love to meet a girl with a great sense of humor with a little sarcasm. Cute like the girl-next-door type, caring, and that can make you smile for no reason. can be serious as well. I love talking about anything from politics to religion to sport traveling, but can also have fun right here inmeeting new peopl. If it turns into something more than that's awesumi'm pretty laidback and take things integrity — two values I value. There is no magic recipe, but I'm certain it contains one part chemistry, one part woman that shares similar interests and can make me laugh, and also laugh at herself. is too short to take yourself too for a good sense of humor. Iseeking someone they can reflect off and attain like women with intelligence, self-confid and who has the ability to laugh at any moment and is open to new experience willing to share her own. And above all, someone who won't hold it against me that I cut-and-pasted this paragraph together from fifteen different MisMatch.com members' profiles.

In my own pretentious words for fun:

Concerts in the park in the spring, walks along the beach in the summer, leaf peeping in the fall, making snow angels in the winter. Weekend stays at cozy B&Bs in Vermont during maple syrup season. Heading into the City to check out the latest exhibit at MoMA or the newest hit on Broadway. Denying all of the preceding once we actually start dating. Especially "leaf peeping."

my ethnicity:

I'm half German, half Italian-Briton, half Portuguese, 0.45 Inuit Eskimo, 2/3 Hungarian, 1/8 octoroon, 2/5 Mexican (of which 27.82% is here legally), 33-1/3 British Honduran, one sixth Pangean/Atlantian, and a quarter Manx. I like to self-deprecatingly refer to myself as a "mutt" not only because I presume that girls think it's cute when I do that, but also because my mother is a bitch.

my religion:

Admitting to adherence to any kind of faith-based system of beliefs or ideals will of course send potential matches running to the next profile, so instead, I'll not only say I'm not a fan of organized religion, but I'll further turn my back on whatever religious upbringing I may have had by bravely stating that all organized religion is evil, and — Ready, ladies? Here it comes — make a point of trotting out the meaningless and clichéd platitude "I'm a very spiritual person," whatever that means.

favorite hot spots:

I'm not a big fan of crowded clubs; and not just because I'm never on the list and can't get in. Give me an out-of-the-way dive every time — the very same out-of-the-way dives that every other jackass on here claims they prefer to crowded clubs. Love little independent coffee houses; despite this, I'll see fit to take you to Starbucks for our first date. I'm the kind of guy who loves nothing more than wasting half of my weekend, seriously hungover, waiting in line in the glaring hot sun with sixty other douchebags and their girlfriends for a table at some otherwise forgotten greasy spoon that has suddenly and inexplicably become popular for brunch on Sundays. At the very least, I promise we'll do this at least once so we can both be seen, and thereafter we'll go to the drive-thru at McDonald's for Egg McMuffins.

favorite things:

Relaxing with the Sunday paper over sushi and karaoke at the bowling alley wearing a vintage Hawaiian shirt after skydiving into a hot air balloon during a Napa Valley wine-tasting tour, and then bungee-jumping out of the balloon into a school of dolphins off the coast. I pride myself in having very eclectic tastes in music and am under the mistaken impression that enjoying varied and disparate musical styles is incredibly unique to me alone; and I remain largely unaware that about 90% of all members on this site also refer to their taste in music as being "very eclectic."

last read:

I'm itching to trot out "eclectic" again to describe my recent reading selections but it would be a stretch to use it accurately when the only two things on that short list are my gas bill and the microwave instructions on a box of Hot Pockets. In the hopes that you'll be impressed now by their inclusion but will have forgotten about this by the time we meet, I'll just drop the names David Sedaris, Heart of Darkness, The New York Review of Books, The Wall Street Journal, James Joyce, The Celestine Prophecy, Dreams from My Father, The Tipping Point, Jane Austen, and, what the hell, Curious George Flies a Kite tain like women with intelligence, self-conhd and who has the ability to laugh at any moment and is open to new experience willing to share her own. And above all, someone who won't hold it against me that I cut-and-pasted this paragraph together from fifteen different MisMatch.com members' profiles.

Add your own MisMatchWords™ to your Profile, and we'll have managed to keep that little "online now" tag on your profile lit up for another couple of hours or so as you tumble down the bottomless rabbit hole of hyperlinks and meander through a neverending labyrinth of profiles in your quixotic search for Mr. or Mrs. Right until you glance at the clock and realize it's four in the morning and you've got to be up for work in two and a half hours.

7 ways you match

Comparing random words and phrases in your profiles side by side is how we determine "chemistry" on MisMatch.com...

...and before you start bitching, bear in mind that this is a step up from arranged marriages which is still the norm in some cultures.

A TV COMMERCIAL WE'D LIKE TO SEE

Hi! This is Vince, with ScamWow! You'll say, "ScamWow" every time you use your ScamWow!

ScamWow! It's like a chamois, it's like a towel, it's like a sponge, it's like a really filthy, soaking wet rag — all in one!

ScamWow is for the car...

WOW

...the boat...

WOW!

...the stable...

WOW!

...and the house!

WOW!

I even use it to soak up the gallons of gel on my retarded spiked hair! It's a towel! You use it to sop up wet stuff! Do I really have to spell it out for you morons?

Spilled some wine? No problem!

Use your ScamWow to soak it up and wring it right back into the bottle!

Your guests will never know the difference — unless you also soaked up some pet hairs!

WOW!

I carry one in my glove compartment for cleaning up personal stains, like blood from cocktail lounge pick-ups that go terribly wrong!

WOW

ScamWow is machine washable! Of course it absorbs all the water in the washing machine, but don't worry. To dry it, just roll it up in another ScamWow! Then wash that one and use the first ScamWow to dry that, too. You'll say, "Wow, I can't believe I spent an entire afternoon doing this!"

Even Olympic swimmers use ScamWow! Michael Phelps used it to mop up some bong water he spilled!

ScamWow is made in Germany! You know the Germans, they never have a bad idea.

WRITER: DICK DEBARTOLO ARTIST: TOM BUNK

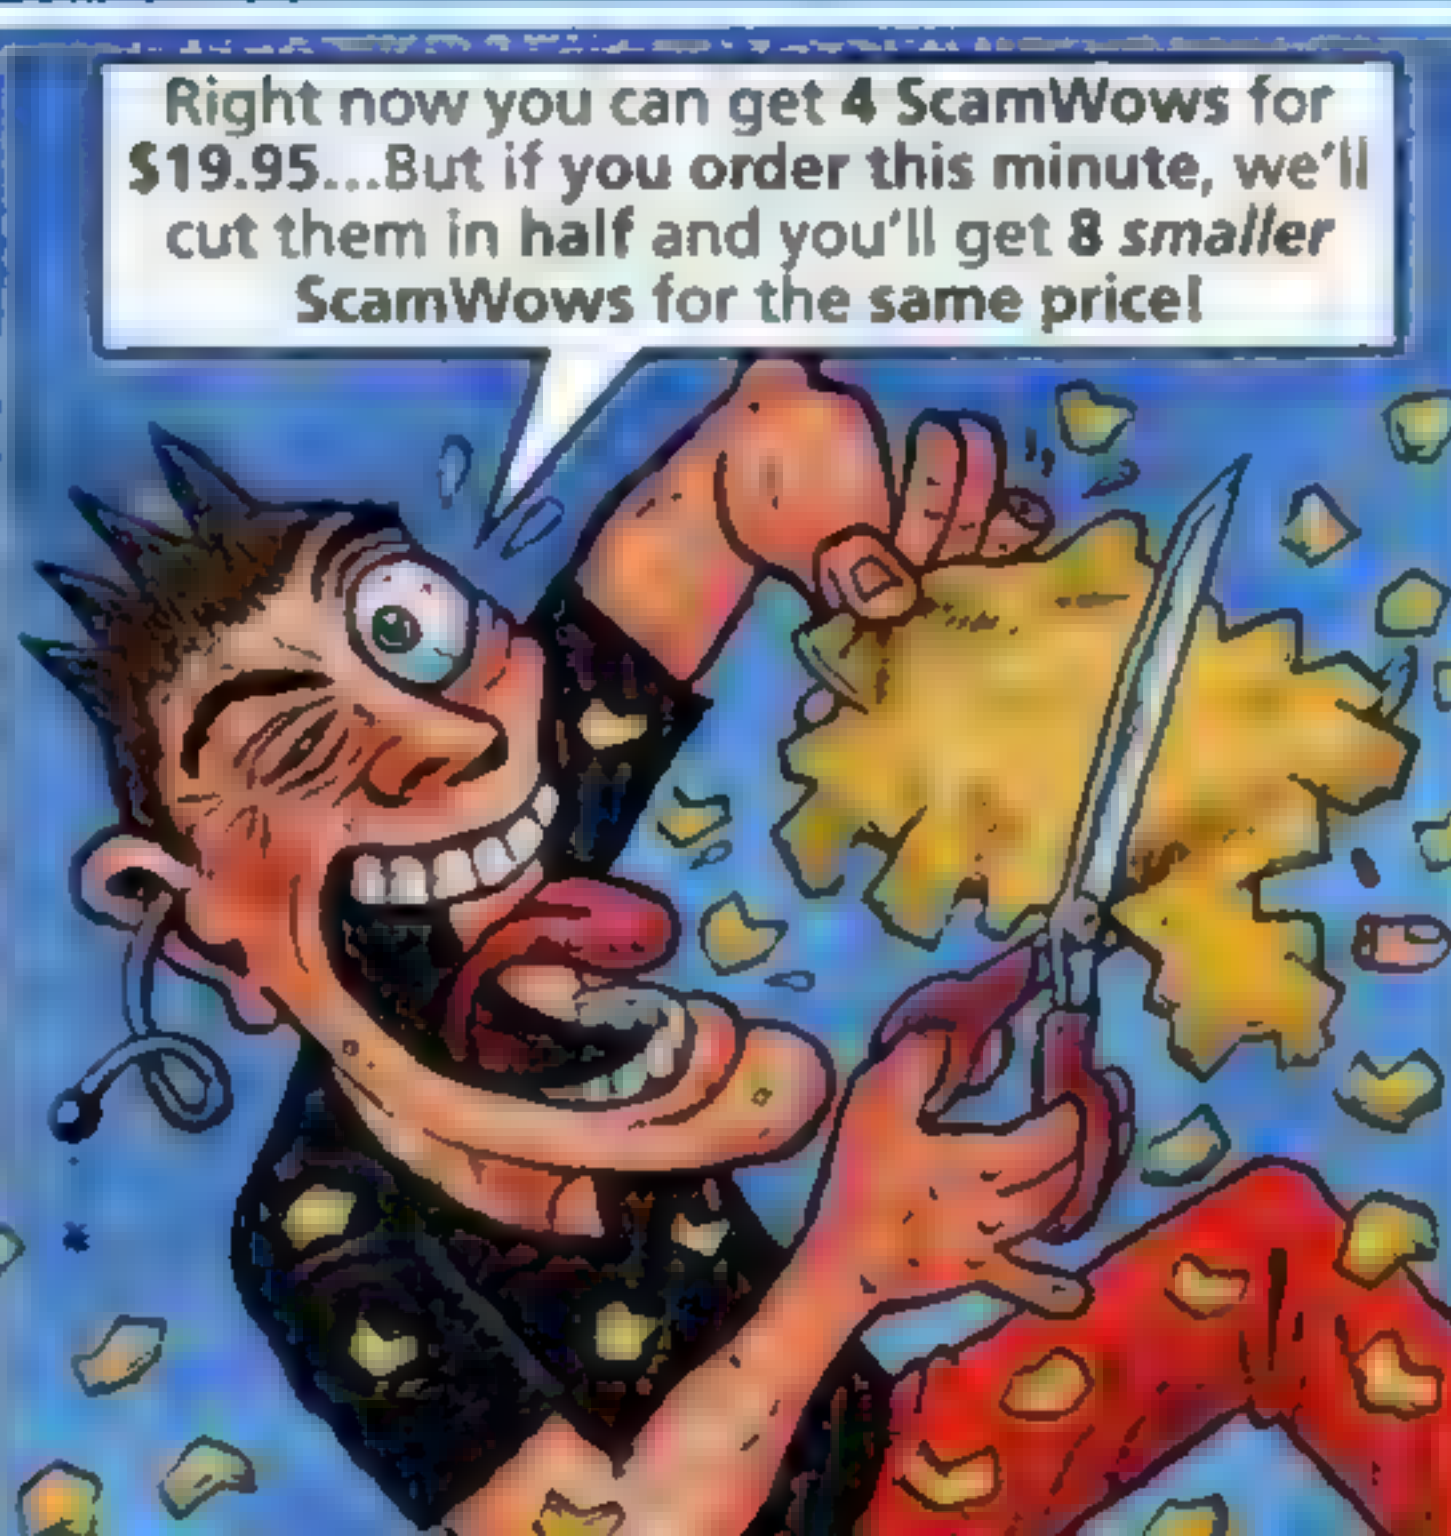

This product sells itself. Which really drives home how completely useless I am!

We can't make this offer all day! We can only make it every other half hour, around the clock, because that's how much TV time we've bought!

Right now you can get 4 ScamWows for $19.95...But if you order this minute, we'll cut them in half and you'll get 8 smaller ScamWows for the same price!

Just pay additional shipping and we'll cut them in half again and you'll get 16 real small ScamWows!

Try them once and you'll say: ScamWow! You'll say a lot of other stuff, but once we have your money, say what you like. We couldn't care less!

THESE DAYS we hear a lot of alarming reports about overweight people. America, it seems, is a nation of fatties getting fatter all the time. But like most alarming reports from the media, you probably shouldn't believe them. The truth is, we've always been a country of overeating heifers, we just didn't have talking heads with hours of television airtime to get us all excited about them. Too bad! If we had TV back in the old West, we could have seen some pretty entertaining special reports, such as...

THE HARDSHIPS FACED BY THE SUPER OBESSE OF AMERICA'S WILD WEST

I wonder what the mechanic's going to charge us for fixing the car?

PLENTY! Those Italians will cheat you any chance they get!

The whole job only cost us seven dollars—including labor!

That don't surprise me! Them Wops are too dumb to figure out a bill right!

A comic strip showing a car mechanic and a customer. The mechanic is a man with a mustache and a hat, and the customer is a man with a mustache and a hat. They are standing next to a car with the license plate "93940".

THE AUTOMATIC WINDOW BARS

Spears are hidden in window frame. When burglar puts his weight on window sill, switch is activated and spears are released which effectively bar entry to thief. Too bad—heh-heh—if he's caught in the middle! Note: floor treadle safety feature (A) which cuts current to spring switch so that a person opening window from the inside is protected.

"THE NEW CENTURIONS"

When they are assembled, most Model Car Kits today result in something like this: A replica of a car as it looks on display in the dealer's showroom, shiny and new.

MAD's Model Car Kit #1 would result in this kind of thing: A replica of a car a few weeks after it's left the dealer's showroom, when it's been driven on crowded city streets, parked in shopping center parking lots and jammed onto our freeways.

I am Dr. Zaydius, the head ape! Let me briefly describe our society! You see, on this planet apes are superior... and humans are animals! We have a descending social order here! The orangutans are on top, then come the chimpanzees, then gorillas and baboons, then humans, then used car salesman!

Oh, my God! Dr. Zaydius was right! We... we shouldn't have come! LOOK... The Statue of Liberty! We're not on another planet! We're on Earth—2000 years LATER!! And the amazing thing is, there are tourists still walking around in the Statue's head! Incredible! I wonder how the Statue got destroyed! Simple! Either it was blasted in a nuclear war... or it got MUGGED! New York City was pretty dangerous in those days!

STAPLES Most bars of staples look perfectly innocent. But every third staple is actually made of soft, inferior wire that can't penetrate even one sheet of paper. It simply turns into one of the grotesque shapes shown and is discarded.

The All-New

What The Heck Is The Difference?

Can you find the 7 idiotic changes we've made to this Jonas Brothers album cover?

- 1) The "JB" logo has been replaced with 666, the Number of Satan, who co-writes much of the Brothers' music.
- 2) The title of the CD has been changed to something more appropriate.
- 3) Kevin's hair is on fire.
- 4) Joe now has a Hitler moustache.
- 5) The boys' legs have all been gnawed off by wild boars (trust us).
- 6) Nick is holding a naked Barbie doll.
- 7) A dog has defecated on the car the Brothers are leaning on.
